WEARY AND WORN STRIKERS ARRIVE

striking. The representatives from New York are Raymond Fazio and Margaret Baughen. The party from Philadelphia consisted of Max Begonia, Jane Hock, and Tom Connolly.

Among those who welcomed the party was a committee, consisting of William Birmingham, J. W. Richmond, B. L. Gershanick, Thomas E. Carroll, Louis Koblenz, H. S. Fenner, and H. F. Harrison. W. J. Ghent, secretary to Representative Victor Berger, of Wisconsin, was at the station during the early part of the evening.

Representative Wilson, chairman of the House Labor Committee, yesterday made public a letter, signed "A Mill Slave," charging that John Green, school board commissioner of Lawrence, was caught "planting" dynamite to discredit the textile workers.

"John Green, political boss, undertaker, and commissioner of the school board, was caught, with some hired detectives, the letter reads, 'planting enough dynamite to blow up all Lawrence. Green is not in jail.'"

The writer declared that the mill owners, city government, police, and militia have defied the State, city, and public in their actions against the strikers.

Decline to Accept Increase.

Lawrence, Mass., March 1.—An increase of 5 per cent in the wages of all the employees of the American Woolen Company, announced this afternoon, was completely ignored by the Industrial Workers of the World, in a statement which reiterates the demands of the striking textile workers and insists that peace can be established only on a basis of a 15 per cent increase. William D. Haywood, following a conference of the strike committee, said:

"We will not accept the offer made by the mill owners. The only thing we will accept is that our original demand of 15 per cent be granted and that Joseph J. Ettor be released from jail."

The increase announced by the American Woolen Company is effective in all the thirty-three cities where the corporation has agents and affects over 20,000 men. The increase is to date from March 4.

COLD STEEL FOR LUNCH.

Patron of Eating Place, Assaulted, Is Forgiving.

Charles M. May, thirty-three years old, of the Balfour apartments, stopped in a luncheon at 304 Fourteenth street yesterday and received injuries which necessitated his removal to Freedmen's Hospital.

May and the employee who served him, Jason Risley, twenty-nine years old, engaged in a verbal dispute, which developed into a battle, in which Risley employed a butcher's knife. May's head was badly bruised and cut. Risley, who lives at 303 Further place, was arrested on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. When May learned of the arrest he asked the police to release Risley. The request was not granted.

IRELAND'S LOSS MOURNED.

Held in High Esteem by Northwest Suburban Citizens.

Members of the Citizens' Northwest Suburban Association, at a meeting last night in Masonic Hall, Tenleytown, adopted appropriate resolutions for the late Prof. William H. Ireland, formerly principal of the Tenley School. Charles C. Lancaster, Dr. J. W. Chappell, and A. J. Young spoke of the life and work of Prof. Ireland, and of the high esteem in which he was held by his fellow-citizens.

Resolutions were adopted advocating a 15-cent wage for per diem employees in the street cleaning department and the purchase of additional auto engines for the fire department, one to be located in Tenleytown. The association also urged the continuation of Columbia Heights for women. The bills regarding the inspection of gas appliances in the District and the Commissioners to enforce regulations governing their installation were opposed.

Louis P. Shoemaker was appointed chairman of the committee for the proposed Carnegie library to be located on a site recently donated by Mr. and Mrs. Christian Heinrich. Mr. Carnegie will be asked to give $50,000 for the erection of the library and Congress $100,000 for running expenses.

Fellows' Republic's President.

President Taft has sent a telegram of congratulations to Eladio Victoria, upon his inauguration into the office of president of the Dominican republic yesterday.

DAY'S POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS

ROOSEVELT MEN MAY STEP ASIDE

Perkins and McCormick Are Too Close to Harvester Trust.

NORTH DAKOTA'S STATUS

Thoroughly alarmed over the International Harvester Company as an issue in the Presidential primaries to be held in North Dakota this month, progressive Republicans from that State, who are interested in Col. Roosevelt's candidacy, are likely to make a demand on his managers within a few days that George W. Perkins, a director in the International Harvester Company, who is raising the money for the Roosevelt campaign, and Medill McCormick, a member of the McCormick family, which is a large holder of the stock of the International Harvester Company, be retired from active management of the Roosevelt campaign.

The first Presidential primary to be held will be in North Dakota. Three sets of delegates will be in the field representing, respectively, President Taft, Col. Roosevelt, and La Follette. At first it looked as if in the general rush from La Follette to Roosevelt the North Dakota "progressives" would be to Roosevelt in such numbers as to insure the election of his delegates.

Situation Has Changed.

Yesterday the situation had changed entirely. Roosevelt's friends in Washington have learned that there is a strong probability of the La Follette delegates being elected. Immediately following the announcement of Col. Roosevelt that he would be a candidate, La Follette's manager, Walter L. Hunter, hastened to North Dakota and called together La Follette's supporters and put a little ginger into the campaign.

But the big factor against Col. Roosevelt has been the International Harvester Company as an issue and the fact that George W. Perkins and Medill McCormick in the management of the Roosevelt campaign. Senator Gronna, of North Dakota, was the lone progressive Republican Senator who refused to desert La Follette and go to Roosevelt.

"We are going to carry North Dakota for Senator La Follette," said Senator Gronna yesterday. "We have to buy harvester in North Dakota," he explained, with a twinkle of the eye.

Farmers Are Aroused.

It was explained yesterday that the North Dakota farmers have rebelled against the action of the harvester trust in raising the price of its products, and that the State is thoroughly aroused over the partition of support for Roosevelt trust men in North Dakota politics. Senator La Follette has been digging up all the information obtainable about the company personnel and their relations to Roosevelt politics. His agents have been making the "issue" clear to the North Dakota farmers.

It was learned here yesterday that some of the progressives who have been supporting Col. Roosevelt have warned him that he could not afford to permit Perkins and McCormick to be conspicuous in the management of his campaign.

Administration Is Indorsed.

Concord, N. H., March 1.—Fifty progressive Republicans from all parts of the State, all previously associated with Gov. Bass, met here to-night and indorsed the Taft administration and pledged their support to the President.

Taft to Get Delegates.

Albany, N. Y., March 1.—Taft supporters to-day controlled the meeting of the Republican Congressional committee of the Thirty-sixth district, and unless the Roosevelt forces displace the candidates named to the national convention in the coming primaries the President will have two delegates from this district. The delegates named by the committee are Representative Serrano E. Payne, of Auburn, and Albert M. Patterson, of Ontario. While there were no instructions, the meeting was pro-Taft.

Will Make Long Pilgrimage.

There is going to be a great journeying of the faithful to Lincoln, Neb. It was learned yesterday that a big "birthday party" for William Jennings Bryan is being organized among Washington statesmen. Representatives Ollie Jensen, of Oregon, and Charles McNary, of Indiana, a Lincoln memorial highway from Washington to the birthplace of Gettysburg. Mr. Bryan's bill proposes to utilize the $2,000,000 appropriated for a Lincoln memorial in the construction of a highway. This is in opposition to the plan of the Fine Arts Committee to construct a building on the Potomac drive.

MUST SHOW THEIR BOOKS.

I. C. C. Will Enforce Jurisdiction Over Express Companies.

That the express companies of the country generally tried to obstruct the agents of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the investigation of rates, rules, and regulations of the companies, were charges made before the commission yesterday by W. A. Ryan, chief special agent of the commission. Mr. Ryan's charges drew from Commissioner Lane the statement that the commission had decided it had jurisdiction over the express companies and could and would obtain access to the books and papers of the companies.

Walker D. Hines, chief counsel for the five express companies, said the companies were now willing to furnish any information the commission wanted, and he admitted that in the earlier days of the investigation the express company officials did not co-operate in the manner that they should.

Vote on Enabling Act To-day.

Richmond, Va., March 1.—Following another unsuccessful attempt to have the Jordan enabling act brought up and disposed of to-day, the advocates of the bill succeeded in having it set for special order to come up at 11:30 o'clock in the Senate. It was agreed to vote at 2 o'clock.

An effort on the part of the advocates of the enabling act to have the redistricting bill voted on first was defeated.

Steamer Rans Pocket.

Dover, England, March 1.—The English channel packet Nord was rammed by the steamer Lockwood off this port to-day and was towed here by a tug in a sinking condition. All the passengers were landed safely.

Oil Warehouse Burned.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—The main warehouse of the Standard Oil Company in this city was destroyed to-day with a loss of $1,000,000.

LA FOLLETTE NOT TO QUIT THE RACE

Madison, Wis., March 1.—In La Follette's Magazine to-morrow will appear a signed declaration in which the Senator states that he is still in the Presidential race.

"The statement that my health is broken is a lie. I shall continue in the contest as a contestant for well-defined principles and for a definite programme of legislation which will secure the law will break the hold of privilege on the industrial life of the people and free them from the burden imposed by thousands of millions of dollars of speculation. I have steadfastly refused to make commitments which would in any way involve the issues in uncertainty. I want the support of such delegates only as are willing to win or to lose if need be on this issue."

BILL ASKS HOME FOR IDIOT CHILD

Gallinger Measure, Giving Commissioners Power to Establish Institution, Introduced.

Following a session of the District Committee yesterday morning Chairman Gallinger introduced in the Senate a bill providing for the establishment of a municipal home in the District for feeble-minded, imbecile, and idiotic children. In the bill $100,000 is appropriated for the erection of the home and the purchase of land, and the Commissioners are invested with full authority to superintend it.

So far no definite site as to the location of the home for feeble-minded youngsters has been named. There are several available sites which the Commissioners have under consideration, and should the bill pass Congress, work on the new institution will be begun immediately.

With the bill was a letter from the Commissioners warmly recommending its passage. Attention is called to the fact that the District is now supporting eighty children, of whom sixty-four are white and sixteen are colored. The children are taken care of at private institutions in Elwyn, Pa., Falls Church, Va., and Vineland, N. J. The cost to the District of maintaining these children ranged from $25 to $30 each, or a total of approximately $3,000 per annum.

The Commissioners are given power under the bill to decide upon the necessity of placing youngsters in this institution and to employ such nurses and helpers as are deemed necessary.

The Senate District Committee also approved the bill, warmly advocated by Attorney General Wickham, giving the Police Court concurrent jurisdiction with the District Supreme Court in cases of simple assault, the keeping of disorderly houses, and threats to do bodily harm.

This bill was introduced by Senator Gallinger with one amendment providing that where a bond to keep the peace is not forthcoming defendant may be imprisoned for six months.

ATTACKS BRANDEIS' STAND.

Former Representative Littlefield Defends Shoe Machinery Trust.

Former Representative Littlefield, of Maine, attorney for the United Shoe Machinery Company, concluded his argument yesterday before the House Judiciary Committee, which is considering anti-trust legislation. Mr. Littlefield scored the stand of the Senate, who recently testified in criticism of the leading system of the shoe machinery trust.

MEMORIAL HIGHWAY HEARING.

Borland Bill to Be Considered by Committee Next Monday.

The Committee on the Library of the House of Representatives will hold a public hearing next Monday on the bill of Representative Borland to establish a Lincoln memorial highway from Washington to the birthplace of Gettysburg. Mr. Borland's bill proposes to utilize the $2,000,000 appropriated for a Lincoln memorial in the construction of a highway. This is in opposition to the plan of the Fine Arts Committee to construct a building on the Potomac drive.

At the hearing Gen. T. R. Henshaw, chairman of the Lincoln memorial committee of the G. A. R., and Gen. John C. Black, on behalf of the G. A. R., will be heard in favor of the plan. Others who will be heard in opposition are Louis P. Shoemaker, on behalf of the League of the United States; the legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor; officials of the National Good Roads Commission; and officials of Maryland and Pennsylvania, and others.

Lectures on "Radioactivity."

Dr. R. R. Moore, of the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, delivered a lecture on "Radioactivity" before the Chemical Society of Washington, at the Cosmos Club last night. Experiments and stereopticon views were used by Dr. Moore to illustrate his lecture.

Invents Rifle Silencer.

Stanton, Va., March 1.—Dr. T. P. Fauntleroy, of this city has invented a rifle silencer which bids fair to supersede the Maxim silencer. It is much simpler in construction, and can easily be taken apart and reassembled. Its weight is slight, and it is in the form of a small tube attached to rifle or pistol barrel. The silencer reduces the explosion to a minimum, also taking up the recoil.

Not an Angel.

From Judge.

During one of the earlier discussions of the United States tariff in the Canadian Parliament, an opposition member characterized the attitude of the government on the tariff as "not an angel, not a devil, but a man."

I have observed that the honorable gentleman has been one of those who laughed.

A million common bricks, if piled without mortar, would make a cube measuring about forty feet on each side.

SPEAKER CLARK WILL STAY HERE

Does Not Propose to Be an Absentee from His Congressional Duties.

Speaker Clark made it clear yesterday, when he declined a pressing invitation to make an address in Boston, that he will remain in Washington during this session of Congress. He has been almost swamped with invitations to attend meetings in various parts of the country, but he has uniformly declined every invitation, because, as Speaker of the House, he believes it to be important and his duty to stay here instead of running about the country making speeches that may help his candidacy for the Presidency. There has not been a day in the last month the Speaker has not been compelled to decline an invitation somewhere.

The Speaker will be present at a birthday party to be given him in Washington on Thursday, March 1, and will probably make a short address. This will, however, be the only public utterance while Congress remains in session, except perhaps an address before the Maryland legislature at Annapolis, which is only one hour's run from Washington. Under no circumstance will the Speaker consent to go anywhere else. He made his position clear when he said yesterday: "The vice of Congress is absenteeism. I am trying my everlasting best to keep a quorum here for the transaction of public business, and I cannot, with a straight face and a clear conscience, insist upon other members staying here unless I set them a good example by staying here myself."

BRITISH STRIKERS WILL STAND FIRM

All Negotiations for Settlement of Coal Trouble at End and Government Is Alarmed.

London, March 1.—All negotiations for the settlement of the coal strike are off. The unbending attitude of the miners bringing negotiations to an end to-day. They have flatly refused to consider the government's proposals, leaving the premier and his cabinet in a quandary, inasmuch as the strike is paralyzing trade.

On barricaded pit premises, the mine officials are working hard to keep the pumping machinery going, while absolute quietness in the streets is a feature of hundreds of towns throughout the country. The ranks of the unemployed will be swollen by thousands to-morrow.

There is no break in the dark clouds. This was the statement of Winston Churchill to-night.

The miners' executive committee will not meet until Tuesday, and it takes two days to summon the federation, which must ratify the executive committee's decisions, so next Friday seems to be the earliest possible moment that a settlement may be expected. The mine owners may be looked upon as disposed of, inasmuch as the majority are in favor of an agreement.

An inquiry among the large produce firms shows already that there is a shortage of flour, which means that it will soon be impossible to bake bread. As much as all the milling must be done by steam. With the price of coal at nearly prohibitive, many mill owners announce that they must soon close down.

The miners are most discontent with the prospect, and seem prepared for a long struggle. W. R. Harvey, one of the labor leaders, told The Washington Herald correspondent this afternoon, "We are not in a hurry. Among miners, at any rate, there will be no panic. We don't intend to conduct this strike the way the railway strike was handled. Then there was too much rush and hurry, with the result that the strikers had to content with a compromise. The strike will continue for a considerable time. Once the men are out it is difficult to get them back. I mean that we are prepared to make it last."

SCOUTS TO "HIKE" TO CHAIN BRIDGE

First Troop Will Perform Feats Along the Towpath of Canal To-day.

Members of the First Troop of Boy Scouts of the Y. M. C. A. will hold their first spring outing in the vicinity of Chain Bridge to-day. The scouts will leave the Y. M. C. A. Building at 9:30 o'clock, and will "hike" to the Aqueduct bridge, and from thence will follow the towpath along the canal.

A number of the youngsters will be subjected to the second-class scout test. John Kennedy will go in charge of the troop, and upon reaching the towpath will mark off half a mile, deviating from the path as much as he deems wise. Those scouts who track John, covering the half mile in less than twenty-five minutes, will be heralded as second-class scouts.

In the vicinity of Chain bridge, the medley contest will be held. The scouts will compete in performing many difficult feats. They will be required to give directions without the aid of the compass and to name the leaves which may be found along the route of march. Each patrol will build a separate fire for the purpose of cooking its midday meal. The youngsters will return to the city late in the afternoon.

SCOUTS GIVE EXHIBITION.

The Boy Scouts of the Ninth Street Christian Church gave demonstration last night of tent staking, preparation of a camp dinner, first aid, and the different activities which the Boy Scouts are taught, before a large audience at the church, Ninth and D streets northeast. Exhibits have been given by the troop before President Taft, Ambassador Bryce, and Lieut. Gen. Bryan-Fowler. The officers of the troop are: R. R. Fierle, scout master; W. A. Skowd, assistant scout master; Dr. E. T. Stephenson, medical instructor; Ernest Skowd, secretary-treasurer; Alfred Skowd, William Thompson, and Charles Barnhart, patrol leaders.

James L. Foranell Refuses to Talk of Killing.

That James Lawrence Foranell, the bartender accused of killing Viola Blockwell, after a quarrel at 1230 C street northwest, intends making a determined fight for his life in court when arraigned on a charge of murder, was indicated yesterday when he refused to make any statement on the killing or his attempt to end his life by shooting himself in the mouth.

Police men, relatives, and physicians attending Foranell at Emergency Hospital, questioned him several times during the day, but to no avail. He is suffering from pain from his wound and talks with difficulty. After shattering the jawbone and destroying several teeth the bullet showed through the left side of his neck. The lead has not yet been removed.

"TELL IT TO THE MARINES."

Alleged "Honeymoon Trip" with Another's Wife Leads to Charges.

The alleged semi-transcontinental premature honeymoon trip on the part of Lieut. Chandler K. Jones, U. S. N., stationed at the Puget Sound Navy Yard, has led to his court-martial. Lieut. Jones, according to the charges before the Navy Department, obtained leave from his station several weeks ago to make a trip to Chicago, but did not go alone. A fellow-officer in the Marine Corps made complaint to the department that Jones was accompanied by that fellow-officer's wife.

Apparently anticipating disciplinary action, Lieut. Jones in the meantime had applied for transfer to the Philippines. This had been granted, and he was on the verge of sailing when the charges reached the department.

Orders were issued yesterday to the commandant of the Puget Sound Navy Yard to convene a court-martial on March 4, with Capt. Charles T. Pome as president. There are a number of specifications under charges of conduct becoming a gentleman and an officer. It is understood that the marine officer already has obtained a divorce.

Lieut. Jones, who was appointed to the Naval Academy from Ohio in 1905, has been stationed at the Puget Sound Navy Yard since October, 1910.

Follows Night Cloves.

When the taxicab hold-up occurred Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, who believes there is nearly always a woman in the case, assigned Mrs. Goodwin to that particular line.

"Get next to the women," were her instructions, and once more she is good.

Because a Police Matron.

Mrs. Goodwin entered the department as a matron May 15, 1906. She did duty in various precincts up to the first part of last year. At that time numerous complaints had been received at police headquarters regarding fortune tellers. Inspector Russell, who was then in command of the detective bureau, decided the only way he could get results and break up their business was to have a woman detective to get the evidence against the offenders. No one would, he figured, suspect a middle-aged, respectable-looking woman of being a detective.

Accordingly Mrs. Goodwin, who was then in the Marine street police station, was transferred to the detective bureau on a temporary assignment of thirty days. She made good, and the assignment was continued from time to time.

It wasn't long before other kinds of cases besides the fortune tellers were given to her to investigate, and she made good on all of them.
